

IDS International Announces Agreement with US Army's Enhanced Army Global Logistics Enterprise

Arlington, VA – November 4, 2020

IDS International has been awarded a basic ordering agreement (BOA) with the US Army's Enhanced Army Global Logistics Enterprise (EAGLE) to support materials and equipment on installations around the world.

Under the Army Sustainment Command (ASC), EAGLE standardizes multi-faceted supply, maintenance, and transportation efforts in and outside the Contiguous United States. These efforts prepare forces for deployment, sustainment, and redeployment in current conflicts; reset forces; and rebuild readiness for future deployments and contingencies to meet the demands of 21st Century conflicts.

The BOA is through July 2022 and can continue beyond 2022. It will have task orders awarded for maintenance, supply, and transportation support functions required by the ASC, its coalition partners, and other designated entities supporting military units.

Qualifying as an EAGLE BOA holder reflects the mission critical work IDS performs 24/7 on complex military installations worldwide. IDS's work is often in remote and austere environments, including one of the US Army Corps of Engineer's largest operation and maintenance contracts.
